Subject: Updated data

Dear Kim,

I have been waiting for Neil McDonald to return from his break to pass the information by him first. His absence this week has put me at a distinct disadvantage. We were told that Turley's response (HD35) to NMSS would be early next week. I have devised some simple tables (7 in number) to set out the most up-to-date data on points which have already been referenced in hearing statements and consultation responses. They also challenge statements made by Turley around the extent of job creation reiterated in HD35. This is therefore not new information but updating of information already presented. Given the strong expressions made against new information being submitted I am concerned that a proper distinction is drawn and these tables are not rejected.

Can you please flag this up to the inspector?

Thank you.

Regards,

Cllr Tim Hamilton-Cox
